EnQii voted number 1 global digital signage software provider second year in a row

February 2, 2009

EnQii was today voted the top global digital signage supplier for the second year in a row by the influential DailyDOOH digital signage publication.

“We are very pleased to receive this vote of confidence in our software two years running,” said EnQii CEO Ajay Chowdhury. “As we roll out our new EnGage platform we will ensure that our software remains state of the art and we can provide the best possible service to our customers at the lowest cost.”
