immatics won second prize in European Biotechnica Award 2008

Tuebingen, October 7, 2008 – immatics biotechnologies GmbH is pleased to announce that it has won the second prize in the European Biotechnica Award 2008. The award was presented yesterday evening during the opening ceremony of the BIOTECHNICA in Hannover, Germany. Previously, immatics had been selected as one of three finalists by an international jury of acclaimed biotech professionals and representatives of the investment community. The major selection criteria were exceptional products and services with highly innovative potential for the life science market.
