

Former Cisco Managing Director transfers to Swyx as CEO

Dortmund, Germany, 22nd February 2005 - Swyx a specialist vendor of IP Telephony systems has appointed Günter Junk (aged 46) as the new CEO for Swyx Solutions GmbH. In his new position, he joins the Swyx management team comprising managing directors Dr. Wolfgang Schröder and Dr. Ralf Ebbinghaus.

Günter Junk was previously Vice President of EMEA Operations at Cisco EMEA, and based at the company's head office in London. Prior to this he was responsible for directing the German division of the company.

In his new role at Swyx, Günter Junk intends to further advance the company's global development strategy.

He commented, "I am tremendously excited about my new position at Swyx and am looking forward to challenging the major players and significantly increasing Swyx's market share with the aid of clever, software-based IP based telephone systems. For me, Swyx stands out within both the German and Global IT markets and their ambitious growth plans provided a very attractive background," said Günter Junk "Two reasons supported what was an easy decision to transfer to Swyx: Outstanding technology which clearly optimises company communications, and the people who have developed this technology, who have really pushed back the boundaries within this field to create what is a dynamic and ground-breaking product."

Editor's notes:

About Swyx:

Swyx was founded in April 1999 to develop and sell an IP-based telephony solution. Launched in summer 2000, "SwyxWare" the software-based IP-PBX now supports Microsoft® Windows® Server 2003. Since its launch SwyxWare has been installed in more than 2.200 companies in Europe to provide cost-effective competitive advantage through more powerful, easier to use and cost-effective telephony solutions. SwyxWare has been tested by several independent groups and journalists with excellent results. Larger companies turning to the benefits of converging voice and data solutions have recognised that the future of telephony lies within the convergence of networks and applications, all of which are already available with SwyxWare. Today, more than 400 trained and authorised resellers in Europe sell SwyxWare. These resellers consult and sell SwyxWare to SMEs with up to 500 or more employees.
